An Active Bond ETF Designed for Interest Rate Protection

The Horizons Active Global Fixed Income ETF ("HAF") is an actively managed bond ETF which seeks to provide attractive tax-efficient monthly distributions by taking advantage of global bond opportunities. This strategy includes managing the duration and yield of its exposure to fixed income and fixed income-like securities, according to the prevailing interest rate and yield environment.

Key Features:
- Diversified exposure to global fixed-income securities
- Potential protection against rising and declining rates
- Sub-advisor Fiera Capital Corporation ("Fiera Capital") aims to match duration with yield, which can offer some downside protection against interest rate moves of one percent or less and may limit the upside potential

Impact of 1% Change in Rates

HAF actively manages the yield and duration of the portfolio to be similar, thereby offering potential protection from rising interest rates.

The duration of a bond portfolio is also a measure of its sensitivity to interest rate movements. The chart (left) illustrates how different types of bond portfolios with the same yield of four percent, but different durations, would be impacted by a one percent move in interest rates.

The active duration yield strategy that HAF employs means a rise in interest rates of up to one percent is expected to be mitigated by the impact of the lower duration, so that any decline in portfolio value would be expected to be limited to less than or equal to the yield. Conversely, a decline in interest rates would limit the upside return potential compared to longer-duration portfolios.

Finding Potential Yield Opportunities
Fiera Capital can tactically adjust the asset allocation of the portfolio, which invests primarily in fixed-income ETFs, to target the best risk-adjusted returns for current market conditions. While interest rates have a global impact on bond prices, different geographic sectors and different income classes will be impacted differently in varying market conditions.

Fiera Capital conducts rigorous valuation assessments based on its macro-economic outlook, as well as interest rate forecasts, to select and dynamically rebalance HAF’s credit, sector and geographic exposures. The aim is for HAF’s duration to be equal to or less than the yield it can produce for unitholders.
